

Computer-based Training Options – Learn from Your Desk

QUMAS offers a wide range of training options, including Computer-based Training or CBT modules that provide self-paced instruction on an on-demand basis. CBT programs deliver engaging, interactive training that frequently provide cost savings and greater efficiencies. In particular, CBT modules can train greater numbers of students in a given timeframe while potentially minimizing travel costs for trainees. Organizations can select from standard sets of QUMAS configurations and best practices for a particular product or choose to customize a CBT program to the needs of their specific environment. Interactive questionnaires provide immediate feedback to trainees on their progress, enhancing the overall training experience.
